

Pine Hill Group Announces Expansion with New York City Office Opening

New Office Will Enable Pine Hill Group to Support Private Equity Market and Growing Client Base in New York City Area

PHILADELPHIA (October 17, 2018) – Pine Hill Group, a leading accounting, financial reporting and transaction advisory firm, has expanded the practice with the opening of its third office, located at 275 Madison Avenue in New York City in January 2018. The new office will help Pine Hill support its growing base of clients and channel partners headquartered in the New York metropolitan area, as well as provide on-the-ground support to the largest concentration of private equity firms in the U.S. This geographic expansion into New York City is a result of the tremendous demand the firm has seen for its technical accounting, financial reporting and transaction advisory services.

“Opening an office in New York City was a natural progression for Pine Hill,” explained Barry Smith, Pine Hill’s Chief Strategy Officer. “We are excited to bring our breadth of services that much closer to our existing New York City-based clients and develop new, collaborative relationships with public and private companies, as well as private equity firms and their portfolio companies. Our passion continues to be assisting financial leaders who seek best-in-class technical accounting advice, focused on driving success for critical and complex business objectives. We’re excited to bring this proven approach to the New York City marketplace.”

Pine Hill, which in 2017 celebrated its 10-year anniversary, has significantly expanded its client base by applying Big 4 firm technical accounting and financial operations experience to solve problems related to financial reporting and transactions. “We’re seeing tremendous growth in our private equity client base, who possess record amounts of dry powder, as well as our public and emerging growth company client base, who continue to grapple with an increasingly complex regulatory environment,” said Smith.

To support the geographic expansion, Pine Hill has hired senior level professionals with experience in working with public and private companies on complex accounting matters, including IPO and capital markets readiness, SEC reporting, post-closing integration, technical accounting, financial reporting, carve-out statements, restatements and consolidations.

“We’re excited to add New York City to the Pine Hill family and hope to extend our reach even further into new markets,” added Chuck Jacobson, Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer of Pine Hill.
